

A Bicycle Ride around Washington, DC
An event associated with the 25th ICHC
On Sunday, August 10, 2014

A bicycle ride to view interesting aspects of this capital city with emphasis on places associated with the history of bicycles and other pedal powered machines.

This ride is an optional event associated with the 25th International Cycle History Conference (ICHC) held in Baltimore, Maryland (USA), on August 6-9, 2014.

This event will start with the riders collecting at the commuter train station in Baltimore at 9:00 AM for a train ride into Washington, DC. Riders can also join this ride at the train station in Washington at 10:00 AM when the group of riders from Baltimore arrive.

Riders can bring their own bicycles or rent from the Washington rental system at the start of the ride.

This ride will be led by Ken Gray and Carey Williams, and it will consist of an initial 8 mile ride around the central part of Washington followed by an additional 15 miles out to the edges of the city for those who want to continue. There will be a lunch stop at a place where riders can purchase food items.
